What is the ultrasound tech looking for during my 20 week OB ultrasound?

This ultrasound or sonogram is a very important check up done around 20 weeks to make sure that your baby is developing on schedule. Documentation of the fetal position, heart rate, amniotic fluid, and other vital information is assessed and recorded by the sonographer. A radiologist records their findings and the report and images go with you to your next doctor's appointment.

3D/4D experience includes....

- An ultrasound performed by a Registered Diagnostic Medical Sonographer
- DVD video clips of your ultrasound experience
- Baby's first photo album
- Images on CD... perfect for sharing
- Never miss a moment with our 32" flat screen ultrasound display
- Family and friends welcome
- A bonding experience like no other
